MEMBERSHIP FAQs

Membership Dues

What do my membership dues pay for?

The members of The Philadelphia Cricket Club Board of Governors are committed to providing preeminent recreational and social experiences for the Club's members, their families and friends by maintaining exceptional standards in its facilities, programs, services and professional staff. Membership dues pay for the operating and capital expenses related to maintaining those exceptional standards. In 2020, 91.4% of dues will be operating dues, specifically allocated to operating costs that support the daily member experience, and 8.6% of dues will be capital dues, allocated to capital expenses such as facility preservation, modernization, and reinvention. The Club makes this differentiation between operating and capital dues to demonstrate that all members are stewards of the Club who contribute toward its present and future needs.

What are the membership dues payment terms?

Members may elect monthly, quarterly or annual billing for membership dues. If no election is made, the default will be quarterly dues billing. Monthly dues billing requires automated payment via ACH or credit card payments.

Capital Entrance Fee

What does my capital entrance fee pay for?

The Club is committed to maintaining exceptional standards in its facilities, and all members contribute toward the present and future needs of the Club. In addition to capital dues, new members commit to stewardship of the Club with a capital entrance fee, which is earmarked for capital expenses such as facility preservation, modernization, and reinvention. As the oldest country club in the United States, The Philadelphia Cricket Club is a community and facility that must be cared for. The capital entrance fee is a new member's opportunity to recognize the Club's history and commit to its present and future.

What are the capital entrance fee payment terms?

The capital entrance fee is payable via two equal annual installments, with the first installment due upon election to membership and the second installment due on a member's one-year anniversary, as well as monthly payments for ten years beginning in the member's first month of membership. Alternatively, members can pay off the entire capital entrance fee with an upfront payment, billed via four quarterly installments within the member's first year of membership.

Is the capital entrance fee refundable? Is there an additional bond for golf membership?

The capital entrance fee is non-refundable. There is no additional bond.

I am under 36 years old and joining in one of the younger age brackets. Am I responsible for additional capital entrance fee payments as I move into older age brackets?

No. Your capital entrance fee is locked in when you join. There is no additional capital entrance fee as you move into older age brackets.

If I inactivate my membership within 10 years of joining, am I responsible for the remainder of unpaid capital entrance fee monthly payments?

No. Members are only responsible for payment of the capital entrance fee while they are active members. There is no continued obligation as an inactive member.

Food Minimum

What is the purpose of a food minimum?

The food minimum at The Philadelphia Cricket Club serves two primary purposes: to encourage members to dine at the Club, and to ensure a revenue stream that enables the Club to provide food service year-round in multiple locations. The Club's food minimum is administered on a quarterly cycle, enabling members to dine at the Club at their convenience and allowing the Club to reinvest in its food and beverage program and provide an outstanding member experience across all Club dining venues.

What is applied toward the quarterly food minimum?

Food purchased at all Club dining areas, including dining rooms, halfway houses, Pool Pub, Pool Bar, Pavilion, Squash Social Area, etc. is applied toward the minimum. The food portion of most special events is also applied toward the minimum.

What are the food minimum cycles?

The Club's food minimum is administered on a quarterly cycle, with the last dates of the cycles for all members set as March 31, June 30, September 30, and December 31.

Family/Individual Membership

I am married. May I join as an individual member?

Married resident members who reside with their spouse must maintain family membership. Individuals who are married but do not reside with their spouse may opt to maintain individual membership. Resident members in domestic partnerships (have lived together for at least one year) may opt to maintain family membership. Non-Resident members may choose individual or family membership based on intended usage of the Club. National Golf members may only join as individual members.

I am single but would like my children to use the Club. May I join as a family member?

Yes, you may opt to maintain a family membership so your children will be included on your membership. If you opt to maintain an individual membership, your children may only accompany you to the Club as guests, pursuant to guest policies and restrictions.

Until what age are children included in a family membership?

Children are included in their parents' family membership until the end of the year in which the child turns 22. Children who are full-time students or active military members may remain on a family membership until the end of the year in which the child turns 25.

Are there legacy membership opportunities for my children once they age out of my membership?

Yes, upon aging out of their parents' family membership, children of family members may join as legacy members with attractive capital entrance fee options.

Golf Membership

If I join the Club with Flourtown golf privileges, am I joining as a Full Privileges member or Golf-in-Waiting member?

The Club is currently at capacity for Full Privileges membership. New members joining the Club as golf members join as Golf-in-Waiting members. You will be slotted on a Golf-in-Waiting list based on the date your complete application is received by the Membership Office and will move up the list as Full Privileges members leave golf membership via Leave of Absence, resignation, or change in membership status.

As a Golf-in-Waiting member, how often and when may I play the Wissahickon and Militia Hill golf courses?

Golf-in-Waiting members may play an unlimited number of rounds per calendar year at the Wissahickon and Militia Hill golf courses. Golf-in-Waiting members (all family members) may play Wissahickon or Militia Hill anytime on weekdays and after 12:00pm on weekends and holidays.

As a Golf-in-Waiting member, may I bring guests to play Wissahickon and Militia Hill? May I participate in Club golf events?

You may bring guests to play Wissahickon and Militia Hill any time within your tee time privileges. You may participate in golf events that fall within your tee time privileges unless otherwise specified by the Golf Committee. You may register for such events dependent on availability.

As a Golf-in-Waiting member, what are my options to play golf on a weekend morning?

You may play the St. Martins golf course any time, including weekend mornings. You may play Wissahickon or Militia Hill on a weekend morning only as a guest of a Full Privileges member up to four times per calendar year with payment of the guest fee.

As Full Privileges Family members, when can each family member play golf at Flourtown?

You may designate either spouse to have primary golf privileges (no playing restrictions). The other spouse and any children have associate golf privileges (may play after 11:30am on Saturday and after 9:30am on Sundays and holidays). There are no playing restrictions at St. Martins.

If I join as a golf member, can I downgrade to Intermediate or House membership and later return to golf membership?

You may downgrade at the beginning of the calendar year and return to Flourtown golf membership at any time. If a Golf-in-Waiting list exists at the time of your return, you will be slotted at the bottom of the Golf-in-Waiting list and will have Golf-in-Waiting privileges until a spot opens for you in Full Privileges membership.

Intermediate Membership

What is included in Intermediate membership?

Intermediate membership includes unlimited use of all the athletic facilities at St. Martins and access to all dining facilities, social events, and the fitness center. Intermediate members may play up to eight rounds per membership (spouses playing together counts as two rounds) on Wissahickon and Militia Hill with payment of the guest fee.

If I join as an Intermediate member, can I upgrade to golf membership later?

You may upgrade to Golf-in-Waiting membership at any time by paying the difference between what you have paid toward your capital entrance fee and the total Golf-in-Waiting capital entrance fees for your age bracket at the time of your upgrade. This total will be paid via two equal annual installments, with the first installment due at the time of upgrade and the second installment due one year later, as well as monthly payments for ten years beginning in the first month after the upgrade. You will be slotted at the bottom of the Golf-in-Waiting list and be a Golf-in-Waiting member until a spot opens for you in Full Privileges membership.

As an Intermediate member, when and how often may I use the golf practice facility?

You may use the practice facility on days when you are playing the course. For unlimited access, you may purchase a Golf Practice Facility Access Plan through the golf pro shop.

House Membership

What is included in House membership?

House membership includes access to all dining facilities, all social events, and the fitness center.

As a House member, when and how often may I use the athletic facilities at St. Martins and Flourtown?

You may use each athletic facility at St. Martins – pool, golf course, squash, tennis and paddle – up to four times per year with payment of the guest fee. You may accompany a golf member to play the Wissahickon and Militia Hill golf courses up to four times per year with payment of the guest fee.

National Golf Membership

What is the difference between Non-Resident and National Golf membership?

Non-Resident membership is available only to members who were previously resident members of the Club. National Golf membership is available only to new individual members. Both categories are available only to members who do not own, or lease/rent on a long-term basis, a residence within 75 miles of the Club.

As a National Golf member, how often and when may I play the Wissahickon and Militia Hill golf courses?

National Golf members may play a maximum of 12 total rounds per calendar year at the Wissahickon and Militia Hill golf courses (i.e. eight rounds at Wissahickon plus four rounds at Militia Hill). National Golf members may play Wissahickon or Militia Hill anytime on weekdays and after 12:00pm on weekends and holidays. National Golf members may allocate guest rounds to be used in their 12 allotted rounds without payment of the guest fee.

As a National Golf member, do I have access to the facilities at St. Martins?

National Golf membership does not include access to St. Martins dining, pool, fitness, and racquet sports facilities, or the St. Martins 9-hole golf course.
